

Biography: Pamela Ermen

Pamela Ermen made the decision at 18 years old that a career in real estate would make the most of her love for people and thirst for knowledge. This ultimately led to an award-winning sales career before the age of 20! Over 4 decades later, Pam has never looked back, taking every opportunity to master all aspects of real estate, including the personal ownership of 27 investment properties at the peak of her investment years. She quickly moved into full time real estate management at 23 and has personally supervised more contracts than most real estate companies have seen in their lifetime, estimated to be over 25,000 transactions! Pam's mastery of the real estate business and amazing insights have attracted the attention of companies and associations, both nationally and internationally, who have hired her to inspire, influence and educate both their sales and management teams.
