PHIL JEWELL

INTERNATIONAL KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Phil's leadership experience comes from some of the most intense and challenging environments imaginable. A graduate of the British Army's prestigious Royal Military Academy—widely regarded as the world's top leadership school—he has served with the British, Canadian, and US Armies.

In his mid-twenties, Phil led soldiers in overseas combat and, as a senior leader, collaborated with nations and cultures from around the world. His path led him to become a public service executive and an academic leadership instructor, before founding two companies: a thought leadership firm and a real estate marketing business. It was at this point he discovered the power of bridging these two fields.

"I was totally in the right place. The content was absolutely relevant and is the core of what we need to succeed."

"Out of the box - no one ever discusses embracing irrelevancy, but it's amazing and so inspiring."

"Very inspiring, captured me the whole time. Definitely changed my viewpoints."
